I just spoke with Ms. Ebiwok. This was a very confusing call. She did not have the cover letter so she could not even tell me who EPA mailed the letter to. She indicated that they might have done business with Continental, but her company was not listed on those having received a letter from EPA. She asked me to send her the questions I needed to ask her company. At which point I said EPA doesn't have any questions for her company, and I should not be having this discussion with her, because our attorney has instructed me to only talk to a company representative. A company to which EPA has sent a 104(e) or General Notice letter. Very confusing!!

Sounds like perhaps the primary company just provided the main body of the letter to their transporter, in hopes of getting it out of their hands.

Mr. Ebiwok, I have tried to contact you this morning but was unable to reach you. Please give me a call at your earliest convenience. If you have legal counsel that would prefer to speak with our site attorney, that person could call Mr. Edwin Quinones, at 214-665-8035.

Thank you,
